BOARD OF TRADE IN IMPORTANT MEETING TUESDAY

Activities of the Board of Trade this week are expected to bring matters to a much more developed stage and the meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the club house will be one of great importance. It will witness the actual turning point in the policy and management of the affairs of the Board. Special committees have been sent to every member and there will be no one there who does not say he did not have a copy of the report.

At this meeting a committee will be appointed to formulate a plan and report at the meeting Nov. 18. A committee to have charge of the public meeting will also be organized. Regarding this last matter, large posters will be put up in town and other advertising distributed. The meeting itself will consist of great interest.

W. C. Wakefield, the manager of the Board, reported before the meeting Sunday morning and addressed the delegates, more than 100 being present, on the plan, purpose and policy of the Board of Trade and the future of the city. His remarks were to the point and his delivery was as clear as the morning sun. He said that the Board of Trade was not a mere body of men, but a body of men who were to be the voice of the people and the voice of the city. He said that the Board of Trade was to be the voice of the people and the voice of the city. He said that the Board of Trade was to be the voice of the people and the voice of the city.

My back pained me when I stood and it was hard to straddle after standing. I tried a lot of medicine, but was not benefited until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I recovered. I am now a strong man and I can do any work. I can do any work. I can do any work."

Two injunction suits filed against Newark city officials by Granville street property owners to stop a protest against orders to dig sidewalk which is alleged to be in good condition. Cornelia Webb and Fred S. Wright are the respective plaintiffs, represented by Attorney Carl Norpell. They protest against digging what they contend is a good sidewalk by a six-foot concrete wall specified in a recent street improvement ordinance of the city council.

REFORMATORY SENTENCE FOR GEORGE SHORTS

Zanesville, O., Nov. 10. — George Shorts, negro, who was found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the tragic death of A. J. Kintz, at Frazysburg two months ago, during the present term of common pleas court, was sentenced to the Mansfield reformatory by Judge Frazier Saturday.

Before pronouncing sentence, the court announced that he was in receipt of a petition, signed by 100 reputable citizens of Zanesville and Frazysburg, asking that Shorts be given a suspended sentence. However, the court stated that he had concluded that to suspend a sentence in a case involving the charge of taking a man's life, would not be a good example for the community.

Judge Frazier in pronouncing sentence on Shorts stated that "more words do not justify a blow" is the reading of the law. He said that his first thought had been for suspension of sentence, but after an examination of the statutes he had changed his mind. The judge stated that he favored the probation statute and that he had been recently told that 90 per cent of the prisoners placed on probation by the judges in this state have made good, an excess of those who have made good who have been paroled by the board of pardons.

Suspension of sentence means freedom but loses citizenship, he said to Shorts. The law providing for suspension of sentence gives three reasons for it—first, no previous incarceration; second, no possibility of repetition of the offense or similar offense and third, that the public will not suffer.

The judge held that Shorts had fulfilled the first two demands of the law or would fulfill them in that records showed he had never been in court before and that he thought the lesson had been such that similar offense would never be committed.

"However," said the judge, "the records of this court do not show suspension of sentence where life was involved, and human life is our most sacred right, more sacred than liberty or property." The judge then reviewed former sentences for manslaughter.

MR. EVERETT'S MAGNIFICENT RESIDENCE

Newark Bottle Manufacturer is Erecting a Home in Washington to Cost Million and Half.

The Hartford Daily Times thus refers to the magnificent residence that a Newark man, Mr. Edward H. Everett, is building at Washington, D. C.:

"I shall build me a palace in Washington that will be like the white house, yet unlike it; that will be more beautiful, more magnificent and expensive, and more impressively situated."

In making this remark the bottle king (for it was none other) had in mind a task which nobody else seems ever to have thought of undertaking. During the last 20 years the city of Washington has become the mecca of the millionaires, of whom many have built for themselves magnificent residences. But none of the latter up to now has attempted to rival or copy the historic mansion on Pennsylvania avenue which has been the home of all save one of our presidents.

It must be owned that the bottle king has at last measurably accomplished his ambition. His dwelling, now approaching completion, which stands on Sheridan Circle and overlooks Rock creek, will cost $1,500,000—six times the amount of money spent in the original construction of the white house. It is built of beautiful white limestone, quarried at Bowling Green, in the state of Kentucky, which has much the same appearance as marble, but is more lasting. The white house (standing on low ground) is of brown Virginia sandstone, a rather friable material painted white. There is no great difference between the two in point of size, but the bottle king's mansion, perched on the immediate edge of a precipitous bluff 75 feet in height is clearly in view from several points to the compass at a distance of miles.

One naturally asks, who is the bottle king? The answer is that his name is Edward H. Everett, and that he is the head of the bottle trust. Most people have never heard of this industrial organization, yet it is a big affair.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and thickness to hair when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. Agents, Hall's Drug Store.

800 THREE CENT PIECES ARE BANKED BY PENNSY MAN

Sharon, Pa., Nov. 10.—The First National bank of West Middlesex has received a deposit of 800 three cent pieces dated from 1865 to 1887. They filled an old salt bag until it bulged. The metal in the coin is nickel and the government discontinued making them in 1889 on account of their resemblance to a dime and because in many ways they proved unsatisfactory.

Fogel Brothers have been in business at New Bethlehem for years and Gus now runs a store there. The three cent pieces were taken in at the store years ago. They used to get mixed with the ten cent pieces, and the folks at the store got so that rather than be bothered with them they would fill them in a box. In time the box filled up and 2,000 of the coins were collected all together. Gus secured 800 of them which have been in a garret at his home for years and they were found several days ago. Another brother, John, still has about 2,200 of the coins some place or other, besides possessing an old tin gallon measure full of two cent pieces.

The First National bank will give the patrons of the bank an opportunity of securing the coins at their face value as long as they last.

AUTO CRASHES INTO POLE AND INJURES DRIVER

Leo Carrigan, employed at the Sigler garage in South Fourth street, sustained several minor cuts Saturday afternoon when an automobile which he was steering, while it was being towed to one shop, crashed into a trolley pole at Fourth and West Main streets.

The wind shield was broken and Carrigan was thrown forward, his face being cut by the glass. The machine was badly damaged, the front axle being bent and the steering gear twisted so that it was useless until repairs were made at the shop.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF FARMERS' WEEK

From the preparatory work that have been made for Farmers' Week at the Ohio State University, February 2 to 6, 1914, it will probably be the biggest event of its kind ever held at the College of Agriculture. Every effort has been made by those in charge to give the farmers of the state the best instruction that the facilities of the college will afford. In addition to the important lectures by prominent agriculturists from Ohio and other states, several exhibitions and meetings of interest will be in progress during the week. The list will include meetings of the Ohio State Dairymen's Association, Ohio Plant Breeders, students annual corn show and probably the Ohio Live Stock Association. A new feature which has been added this year for the first time is the home-coming for all former agricultural students and faculty.

NUMBER OF CENTRALIZED SCHOOLS INCREASING

There are more than fifty centralized schools in Ohio at the present time. Many of them have been erected during the past two or three years. More and more people are becoming interested in the centralized school. With this increased interest has come the demand for information on the subject. The people in the communities in which such schools are being planned are anxious to learn how they are conducted in other parts of the state before they take action in their own district. During the past few months, Superintendent A. B. Graham of the Extension department, Ohio State University, has given several talks on the workings of the centralized school in communities which are planning to establish them. More than 100,000 leaflets on this subject have been distributed over the state by the University. The Extension office is well equipped to handle these calls, as it has an abstract of every school district in Ohio. This abstract shows that the average daily attendance in rural schools is but 74 per cent. Superintendent Graham does not believe that centralized schools can be established in every district in Ohio, but in sections that are local or sparsely settled, where the transportation is not a serious problem, it is a better plan to follow and make the school of the greatest benefit to the community.

In Atlanta, Ga., in the last nine months, 120 new dwelling houses have been erected.

The President and His Frock Coat

The November number of the Sartorial Art Journal expresses an undertone of disappointment that President Wilson has discarded the frock coat, save for the most conventional occasions. In so doing, however, he follows a very general custom among simple minded people.

Who can estimate the millions of frock coats of ancient vintage, lying dusty and unworn in remote closets? A great many of them belong to elderly men who were married in them, thirty, forty, or fifty years ago. On state occasions they still come out, though they bear but slight relation to today's fashion plate. Many of them are as fresh as when they were tailored, so few have been the state occasions when they seemed desirable.

In England and other foreign countries, the frock coat is far more popular. Salesmen in stores feel a frock coat necessary for their dignity. It adds impressiveness to their personality, and elevates their conception of their position. Their salary may be meager, their home humble, their hours of labor long. But if they can still support a frock coat, even if threadbare and shiny, they feel that they still retain social position.

Formerly many political candidates felt it necessary to show respect for audiences by appearing in a frock coat at rallies. Lawyers almost invariably wore them in addressing the court. The deacon felt he was showing slight regard for the importance of his church function, if he passed the contribution box while wearing anything less serious.

The frock coat does not accord with the brisk, bustling American temperament. The men who follow society codes may need it to meet fine sartorial distinctions. The business man would feel heavy and burdened with its portentous black tails flopping around.

Cleaning Up for Winter.

People who travel much about the country districts often remark on the shiftless way in which many farmers leave many tools and machinery out in the rains, long after the farm work for the season is done. Some of them have a perpetual clutter of decrepit wagons, machines and tools, which stand out all winter.

The appearance of a town also is often badly injured by failure of householders to take leaves, and destroy litter or get it under cover out of sight. Winter is a time when defects are not so well concealed by foliage and shrubbery, and disorder about the house is particularly conspicuous.

Order is contagious. When one man combs and brushes his home place as if he enjoyed having it trim and smart, the whole neighborhood is stirred by the instinct of competition.

Nov. 10 in American History.

1893—General John Ellis Wood, U. S. A., retired, noted in the Mexican and civil wars, died; born 1784.
1894—Theodore R. Davis, war correspondent and artist of Harper's Weekly in 1861-5, died; born 1849.
1905—Battleship North Dakota was launched at Quincy, Mass.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

Evening stars: Mercury, Jupiter. Morning stars: Saturn, Mars, Venus. The atmosphere of the red star Aldebaran, conspicuous below the Pleiades in the northeastern sky, contains vapors of iron and other metals which can only be vaporized by intense heat.

tion. The net result is to improve the value of real estate. A neighborhood of small but well tended houses can in this way give an impression beyond the power of the mere dollars that were put into it. Many people are personally scrupulous about their clothes, yet will disfigure their home grounds by permitting heaps of ashes, untidy chicken houses, rickety fences, heaps of tin cans, etc.

Regarding the failure of farmers to keep their places cleaned up, few of them realize how it hurts their business standing. It is not merely the loss of decay of tools and machines left out to rust. It is also in the general impression given that a man does not look after details and has no thorough going system for preserving his property and making the best of his resources.

The man who fails to take in a mowing machine when he quits using it in the fall, will be very likely to forget to pay interest on his note when it comes due. At least, that is the way it would look to a banker. Few people care to do business with a man who gives this indication that his work runs at loose ends.

On Second Thought

This is the twentieth anniversary of the birth of Sophonisba Spraguzine, the first woman to crowd a No. 1 foot into a No. 1 shoe. Miss Spraguzine, by the way, was the first woman to wear shoes.

Everybody worked this morning, even father-in-shedding snow.

The outside of an envelope is no place for a puzzle. Any mail carrier will agree to this.

Now that the ground is covered with such a bumper to put out food for the birds.

There's a difference in pitchers. It is the one who goes off first to the well who lasts longest in the big leagues.

Generally speaking, it is the father who votes his sons' way through Congress.

In most cases the impressive merely is the unfatigable. A grassman never looks twice at a private car.

A good woman, often yields to temptation. A foolish woman frequently is able to withstand it.

A really courageous man is one who has been whipped and frankly admits it.

People are like barnyard fowls, in the respect that the men do the crowing and the women the cackling.

But, Killy says the most expensive luxury is a lady friend.

If you wish to learn all about automobiles, take a twenty-mile ride with a man who owns one.

If you wish to read about Christy Mathewson subscribe for a New York newspaper. But, if you are not particularly interested in Mr. Mathewson, a newspaper printed in some other city probably will answer your purpose just as well.

BANKER HEYE, WHO WAS SUED FOR FOR $75,000 ALIMONY

George G. Heye, the New York banker, holds the distinction of having been sued for more alimony than any one else in many years. Mrs. Heye demanded $75,000 a year from him. He answered that he was unable to pay it because his funds had been depleted by the extravagances of his wife when they lived together. It has been reported, Mrs. Heye obtains her divorce. Mr. Heye will remarry at once, but no announcement had been made.

Uncle Walt's Philosophy

His Honor.

I'd hate to be a jurist and listen by the day to lawyers whom a jurist would feel desire to slay; to hear their mangled grammar, their pleadings long and dull, and have at hand no hammer with which to bust a skull. I'd hate to sit forever, and watch attorneys rag the witness part and clever, the witness with a jag; the witness scared and rattled, until three-quarters dead, the witness who, embattled, would punch a lawyer's head. I'd hate to sit and ponder over books that bring despair, over stupid laws that wander and drive jove knows where. I'd hate to have to hearken to states who talk too much, with intellects that darken all matters that they touch. I'd hate to make decision on knotty points of law, and know the next court's vision is sure to find a flaw. To watch over stupid juries with minds upon the blink, would fill my soul with furies and drive me soon to drink. To sit for years and measure out law, upon the bench, and be denied the pleasure of taking monkey wrench and killing ten attorneys, and other healthful sport—Oh, gee! I'm glad my journeys don't lead me into court.

Human Procession

Italians everywhere will hoist the green, white and red flag of the united Italy today, in honor of the forty-fourth birthday of their monarch, Victorio Emanuele III. His coronation to the throne in 1900 was under tragic circumstances, as his father, Umberto I, was assassinated. He found a country politically disorganized and in the throes of anarchy, depression, with many of her people reduced to the verge of starvation, and all who possibly could do so seeking refuge in emigration to North and South America. During Victor Emanuele's reign prosperity as never almost fully restored, the tide of emigration has been greatly abated, and as the fruits of a successful war against the Turks, a large section of the North African coast has been incorporated with the kingdom.

The Italian King is the most intellectual of monarchs, and is known as "the walking encyclopedia." The study of rare coins is his hobby, and his numismatic collection is among the finest in Europe, and rivals the stamp collection of King George. He has written a book on the history of numismatics which is accepted as an authority. The King is also well supplied with the current coin of the realm, as his civil list amounts to over $100,000 a year. Much of this sum goes for the upkeep of royal palaces and parks which he seldom visits.

In his youth the King was delicate and fears were entertained for his life, but the adoption of a Spartan regimen saved him for his land. His wife, Queen Helene, is a daughter of Nicholas I. of Montenegro. They are said to be a most devoted couple. Their only son, Prince Umberto, is now in his tenth year, and they also have three daughters.

Millions of admirers all over the United States, Canada and England will join today in silent or hearty congratulations to Miss Maude Kiskadden, one of the most talented and personally the most successful of American actresses. It may be as well to mention, however, that Miss Kiskadden, who will celebrate her first birthday today, is known on the stage as Maude Adams.

Miss Adams is unique in many ways, and not the least in that she has never married. With her contemporaries of the stage, who have wed with each other in seeking to establish new matrimonial records, Miss Adams has remained sternly aloof from the altar, although she could doubtless number her proposals by the hundreds. This attitude toward matrimony is all the more peculiar because Miss Adams was born in Salt Lake City, famed the world over as the headquarters of Hyman. Indeed, the gifted actress seems homelost wedded to her art, to the exclusion of more man.

Miss Adams's father was James Kiskadden, of Irish descent, and her mother, Annie Adams, an actress of the same stock that gave the United States two presidents, John and John Quincy Adams. The star among American actresses made her stage earnest discussion. Our great government, spending billions, maintained a shop for the repair of mail bags which was then a disgrace. These bags which for thousands of miles on the floors of dirty mail cars; they are thrown on dirty railway platforms; they are carried in all kinds of trucks, tramped on by all kinds of feet, covered with all kinds of dirt producing germs; when ripped and worn they return to Washington for repair. These poor, half paid women labor over these bags, because they must earn a living for themselves and those dependent upon them.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of the president, has been looking into this subject, and it is to be hoped that she will be successful in riding the country of this blot of many years.

Leadership and Bossism.
John Sharp Williams believes in leadership. He was a leader himself once and would like to be a leader again if his fellow Democrats of the senate would permit. Here is what he said one day in the senate:

"We have not suffered from leadership. We have suffered from 'bossism.' But what is 'bossism?' It is irresponsible, unofficial, unelected, unselected leadership. It is subterranean leadership. It is private leadership. It is the invisible empire. It is leadership through instrumentalities not known to the constitution or laws."

Denial Never Catches Up.
"Now, don't you go putting something in the papers without letting me see it if you are going to quote me," said Champ Clark to an interviewer.

"But you can deny it or say you were misquoted or that you were not talking for publication," was the reply.

"No; that doesn't go," replied the speaker. "A denial never catches up."

Mann and the New Member.
Jerry Donovan of Connecticut complained that Jim Mann took advantage of a new member and attacked him. He went on to say that Mann had been "talking through his hat."

"The gentleman from Connecticut," said Mann, "does what a new member frequently does—takes a crack at me—and when I smile back says I have assaulted a new member. I have never attacked a new member in the house until he attacked me."

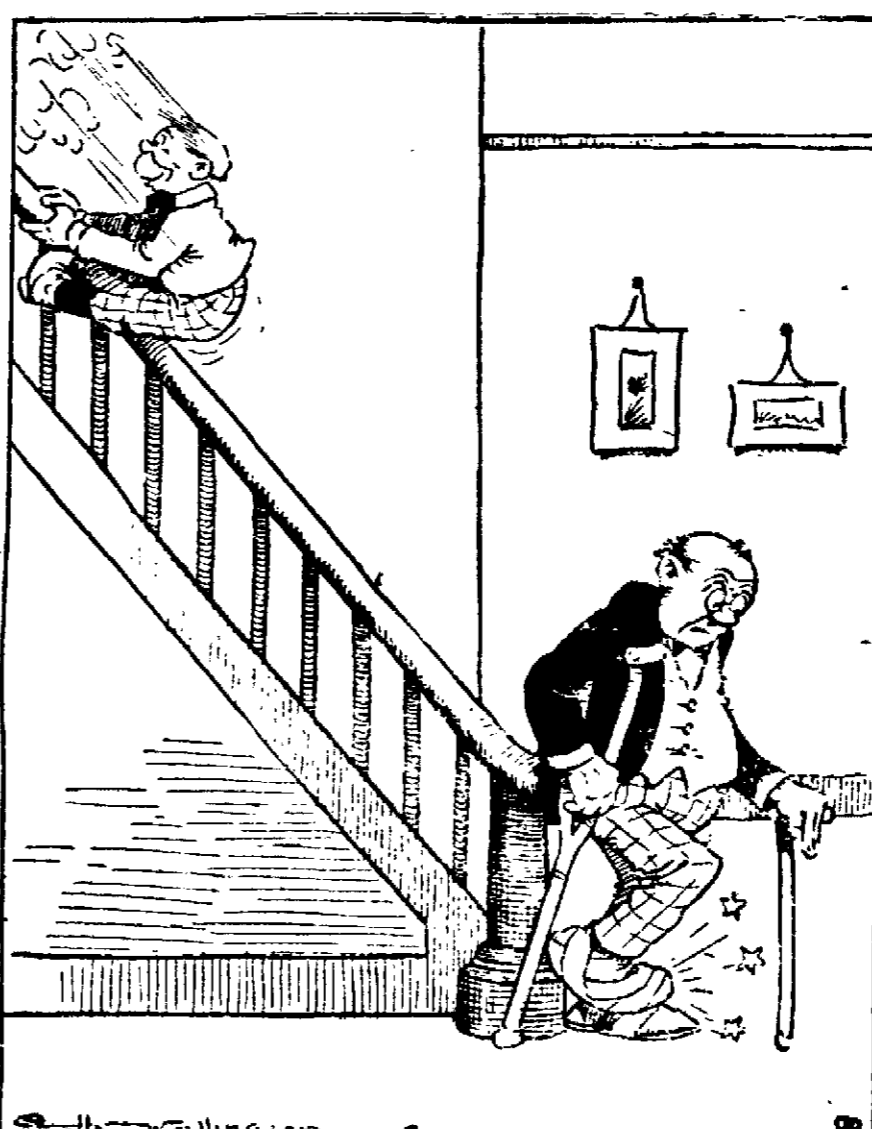

There is something in that too. A new member anxious to get a reputation sometimes decides to "take a fall out of Jim Mann," and that "smile back" which Mann mentioned often means a smiling which that new member will remember for many a day.

Martine Gets Attention.
Few senators talk less than Martine of New Jersey, though he goes in frequently. He gets more attention than almost any other man, for his vigorous manner and his intemperance attract the attention of senators and on-lookers.

Bloobs—"I wonder why Germans are so despondent?" Slobs—"Oh, a German is always looking for the worst."

Deadly Firebug Menace Must Be Held In Check by Stern Measures

By JOSEPH JOHNSON, Fire Commissioner of New York

NIGHT after night have I been called out to fires where the clear white flames bursting from many or all windows indicated the use of alcohol. Even the newly recruited fireman would exclaim, "A touch off!"

THE PROFESSIONAL FIREBUG IS A DEADLY MENACE TO THE COMMUNITY, A CUNNING AND CONSCIENCELESS CRIMINAL WHO WORKS IN SECRET AND IS WHOLLY RECKLESS OF THE LIVES HE MAY ENDANGER, WHOSE ONE THOUGHT IS FINANCIAL GAIN FOR HIMSELF, REGARDLESS OF WHAT THE CONSEQUENCES MAY BE FOR OTHERS AND WHO ONLY TOO OFTEN FINDS SAFETY WITHIN THE LAW.

To those of us to whom the suffering and horror which too often follow in the wake of fire are thoroughly familiar the FIREBUG IS BEYOND THE PALE OF CONSIDERATION. The burglar or highwayman at least runs chances of himself receiving deadly injury, but the firebug may be quietly and in PERSONAL COMFORT building up an alibi while his victims are being roasted to death.

We firemen do not presume to point out to those in authority what the remedy for this state of affairs should be, but we most urgently recommend that others whose business it is should not only continue their present activities, but extend them and keep on extending them until the accused CRIME OF ARSON IS SUPPRESSED.

I am of the opinion that careful studies along the lines of revision of the law, SEVERER PENALTIES, continued activity and vigilance on the part of public officials and a full and complete co-operation with them by the insurance companies, as well as self protection by the owners of buildings by discrimination in the selection of tenants, would tend largely toward the stamping out of the crime of arson or toward its control.

THERE IS NO MEANER OR MORE DESPICABLE CRIMINAL ON EARTH THAN HE WHO DELIBERATELY PLANS WHAT MAY BECOME A HORRIBLE HOLOCAUST FOR THE SAKE OF PERSONAL GAIN.

MEETING OF THE HUMANITY SOCIETY THURSDAY NIGHT

A public meeting at which all persons interested in the extension of humanitarianism are urged to be present, will be held in the Y. M. C. Auditorium Thursday night, beginning at 7 o'clock. The address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. W. H. Eck, humane officer of Lancaster, O. He will discuss the different problems met in carrying out this important work.

The Licking County Humane society, C. C. Metz, president, and W. E. Westbrook, secretary, was organized in May, 1910, by Miss Irene Rood of Chicago. The society had a steady growth to its present membership of 150. It has done a vast amount of efficient work in bettering conditions and in caring for children and dumb animals. However, the society has been greatly hampered by lack of funds. Officers express the hope that the coming year will witness more liberality among humanitarians, and that the society may double its membership and reach a more substantial basis.

LADS HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM TRIP TO REFORM FARM

Three boys, Walter Davis, 14; Edward Spring, 14, and Walter Rolf, 13, narrowly escaped a trip to Lancaster, when they were arraigned before Judge Hunter in juvenile court Monday morning, charged with theft of the call boys' batteries from the Riverside school building election night.

Effective work of Inspector Handel, truant officer of the public schools, resulted in a round-up of the boys. They are said to have admitted their guilt when confronted with conclusive proof by Inspector Handel. He declared the boys had entered the building in the night, cut the wires connecting the song batteries, and made off with them.

The boys returned the batteries when confronted with the evidence against them, and heard a warning from Judge Hunter that they are not likely to forget.

He issued a warning to all persons not having business in public school buildings to keep off the grounds after school hours, and announced that it was only the fact that the trio had never been arraigned before that kept them from being sent to Lancaster for reformation. Parents are urged to see that children are not in mischief while out at nights before the curfew hour. After that hour the juvenile officers usually look after them.

THIEVES ROB THE COLE STORE EARLY TODAY

Early Monday morning when the Cole pawn shop was opened for the day's business, the discovery was made that the place had been burglarized, probably early Monday morning. The thieves stole a dozen revolvers, a number of watches and other articles which were carried away in a grip stolen from the stock.

The burglars forced an entrance by breaking the glass in the front door, after which it was an easy task to work in the darkness of the store. The police department made an investigation of the robbery and the officers are working on an important clue which may develop in an arrest within the next few days.

the clothing owned by several of the lodgers.

Captain Swank hurried to the Boggs place where Seiders told him that he was awakened between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday morning and found a man in his room, going through his trouser pockets.

Seiders sprang from his bed and grappled with the man but he broke away and dashed down the steps and into the street. After hearing the fellow's description, Captain Swank issued an order for the arrest of Bowman.

He was brought in Sunday afternoon and at the city prison, he was taken before Seiders who did not hesitate to identify him as the man who was in his room.

Bowman told the police officer that he had been without money for several weeks and that he had been denied the funds necessary to finance trips to the picture shows.

Captain Swank is elated with the department's success in clearing up two of the Saturday night jobs and he believes that the arrests will have much to do with stopping the numerous petty jobs which have annoyed residents and police officials for the past several months.

In regard to the Bennett assassination, Captain Swank worked throughout Sunday and Sunday night in an effort to turn up information which would throw some light on the man's death. The theory of suicide was advanced when the crime was first discovered and a careful search of the vicinity was made with a view of finding the weapon with which the crime was committed.

This search was complete and careful but there was no sign of a weapon and there was no indication that there was any struggle between Bennett and his assailant.

The snow Sunday covered any possible clue which daylight might have developed and the department has been handicapped by this fact. However, the investigation is going forward and Captain Swank is hopeful that some important information may be turned up.

Burglars entered the home of John W. Darnes, at 82 Railroad street, some time Saturday night but were frightened away before securing anything of value.

A family giving the name of Fleming reported to police headquarters that some one made an attempt to burglarize their residence in St. Clair street. Police officers who investigated could find no indication of the burglary and it is believed that was blowing a mere door caused the alarm. Nothing was missed.

Are You Subject to Backache?

The muscles of the back are constantly under heavy strain and have but little rest throughout the day. They are therefore in need of all the nourishment and strength that pleger's pure, red blood can give them. Unless they have this help, you will have backache and continue to have it.

Backache seldom or never means kidney trouble. It is nothing more than the tired, weary, worn-out muscles of the back showing their exhaustion because of lack of good pure blood.

If you are subject to backache you have reason to suspect the condition of your blood. The generally recognized blood purifier and builder—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is worthy a serious trial of these pills. You will find them more effective than any other medicine.

PURITY CONGRESS IS IN SESSION AT MINNEAPOLIS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—

To combat the evils of the immoral cafe, J. Frank Chase, secretary of the New England Watch and Ward society of Boston, addressing the International Purity Congress here today proposed the establishment of "tri-partite saloons"—one part for men, one for women and one for couples.

"The rule must be inflexible so far as the couples part is concerned: the withdrawal of either party means the withdrawal of both, for no unaccompanied woman can remain in the couples part," he said.

Mr. Chase would make it a punishable offense to rent a room for immoral purposes, as a means of overcoming the evils of the immoral lodging house. A law compelling the janitor to keep on file in a room on the first floor the marriage certificate of each person living in a flat was suggested as a means of eliminating the evils of the "affinity flat."

Chasers should be compelled to register their names before being allowed to pass into such apartments, he said.

Mr. Chase spoke of the success of the campaign Boston waged on the social evil. He declared there was not now a single open illegal house in the city.

Discussing the "white slave" evil, Fred Garnett, of Louisville, Ky., spoke in part as follows:

"The final solution of this question is undoubtedly the work of the church, both Catholic and Protestant. By a concerted effort of all the churches each congregation can purify its membership and with the co-operation of the civil authorities many women of foreign birth can be deported and those from other states sent home. Then the citizens of each locality should establish a home for women who wish to reform."

COMISH BUSY HANDLING THE "LONG GREEN"

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—One hundred dollar bills and checks for that amount almost snowed under the state liquor licensing board today. More than $100,000 was received in today's mail from liquor dealers who were granted licenses by county boards last week. The registration fee is $100. Four-fifths of the applicants in the state have paid their fees and about $500,000 has been received by the state board.

NONE NEEDED. Tourist—You have an unusually large amount of coin under pillow—don't the crows annoy you a great deal?

Farmer—Oh, not to any extent. Tourist—That's peculiar, considering you have no scarecrows. Farmer—Oh, well, you see, I'm out here a good part of the time myself. —New York Mail.

IN HOLIDAY SPIRIT

A Foreign Supper.

A very enjoyable and interesting entertainment to give during the winter is a foreign dinner or supper. If quite an elaborate affair is desired, a dinner can be the choice, with the decorations and service and courses as sumptuous as may be desired. But if something more informal is wanted, it can take the form of a supper, which will be no less delightful, though much less costly and hard to prepare.

Dutch suppers are well known, but those of other foreign nationalities are not quite so familiar. In planning the affair, it would be well to bear in mind, as far as possible, the taste of the guests. Many do not care for Dutch or German dishes, and the hostess would have the unpleasant experience of seeing her guests eat little. But other foreign menus are so general in character they would probably prove appetizing to all.

The decorations of course should be in keeping. For an Irish supper, the shamrock and little green flags would be suitable, and an Irish stew and potatoes, the pieces of resistance of the menu. And be it remembered that an Irish stew, if made rightly, is not a thing to be sneered at.

For a Scotch supper, the thistle or heather could be chosen, and porridge and oatmeal cakes be among the dishes served.

The rose is the emblem of England, and could be used for the decorations of an English supper, and all sorts of good things could be served, for the English are notable eaters. Tea, of course, would be the drink, or at least one of the drinks.

If the supper is to be French, lilies can be selected for the flowers, and a delectable salad should be one of the courses.

A Spanish supper would be a little out of the ordinary; and though not everybody likes Spanish dishes, we are getting so much more in touch with things Spanish than we used to be, that out of mere curiosity, if from no other reason, we all like to taste their national cookery. A Spanish supper will therefore prove quite a novelty. Chill con carne and hot tamales should be among the dishes provided.

Chrysanthemums would be appropriate for a Japanese supper, and rice in some of the many attractive ways in which it can be served, one of the dishes.

In fact the decorations for any of these suppers can be charming, there is such a lavish amount of material to draw upon. The menus, too, can be as varied as desired, for one has all the dishes of the country to pick from for the one meal. Cook books, and books on entertaining and kindred subjects, to be found in the libraries, will give an abundance of suggestions as to what to serve.

BLIZZARD

(Continued from Page 1.) Is and more inches deep and no reports can be got from there. The southwestern part of Pennsylvania is almost in like condition. In Washington county, all schools have been suspended, there is no wire communication, and but sparse mobile trolley service and that only in the city of Washington. One fatality was reported from Washington this morning. Grant Southworth, a telephone lineman, aged twenty-five, was found at the foot of a pole frozen and with his neck broken. Through trains and the mails are being pushed through with great effort and all are running fairly late. While the storm had abated this morning, the damage was heavy. The severing wires and trees were made more threatening by the high wind that still maintained, and the heavy underfoot travel. The local weather report was for continued snow today and tomorrow with high winds.

PRISONERS AT AKRON WORK AT SHOVELING SNOW

(Associated Press Telegram.) Akron, Ohio, Nov. 10.—With traffic completely paralyzed, this city last night and Sunday experienced the worst snow storm in its history. At least 10 inches of snow fell since Saturday night. Several of the large factories were forced to close during the early hours of the morning and workers who had to wade through the snow were from two to three hours late. No railway trains have been operated out of Akron since Sunday afternoon and local street railway and interurban line service is temporarily abandoned. Police Judge Vaughan this morning ordered out all the prisoners in the city prison for work on the streets and hundreds of men were busy shoveling snow on the downtown streets. Telegraph and telephone service is crippled and many signs and trees were blown down during the night. It is not likely that car service will be resumed before two or three days. Fourteen thousand school children remained home from school this morning. The few who trudged through the drifts were sent home by the janitors of the buildings. Neither love nor money could buy a snow shovel in Akron today. Street Superintendent Dunn bought the city's entire supply. Four hundred men were put to work cleaning street intersections and cross walks. Seventy-five teams were hired to haul the snow away. A Baltimore & Ohio passenger train due from Cleveland at 8:30 o'clock Sunday night was stalled all night at Peninsula and did not reach here until this morning at 6:30. The passengers spent the night on the train. A Cleveland, Akron and Columbus train has been lying at Apple Creek for many hours, and another on the same road due here from Cleveland Sunday night at 10:10 has not arrived from that city yet.

GREAT DAMAGE AT CHICAGO

(Associated Press Telegram.) Chicago, Nov. 10.—A tremendous surf, driven in by the 50-mile gale, did hundreds of thousands of dollars of damage along the Chicago waterfront during the last 24 hours. Two hundred thousand dollars worth of breakwaters and made land, comprising the new Lincoln Park Yacht harbor were undermined and piers, sea walls and piling washed away. During the day the surf subsided but a tremendous sea continued out in the lake and few vessels left Chicago harbor. At Milwaukee a $20,000 breakwater, part of the new harbor project, was destroyed and more than that amount of damage was done to shipping. Two deaths were reported here. The 700-ton steel ore steamer Clarence S. Back is reported in a sinking condition at Gary, Indiana, as a result of being driven against a concrete dock by the waves. Sand, driven by the gale, swept Gary in such sheets that nearly all persons remained indoors. Interurban railway traffic in northern Indiana was tied up by snow.

BLIZZARD AT ZANESVILLE

(Associated Press Telegram.) Zanesville, Ohio, Nov. 10.—The heaviest blizzard and snow storm in years and incidentally the earliest recorded here, today holds Zanesville and Muskingum county in its grasp. Business and traffic has been demoralized. After 24 hours of continuous snow fall, a foot of snow was recorded in this city, nearly equaling the entire snow fall last winter. The early morning outlook is far from cheerful. Two deaths were reported here. The 700-ton steel ore steamer Clarence S. Back is reported in a sinking condition at Gary, Indiana, as a result of being driven against a concrete dock by the waves. Sand, driven by the gale, swept Gary in such sheets that nearly all persons remained indoors. Interurban railway traffic in northern Indiana was tied up by snow.

SEVENTY MILE AN HOUR GALE AT BUFFALO

(Associated Press Telegram.) Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The blizzard that raged here early today, the city experienced a 70-mile-an-hour gale, the fiercest before it clouds of snow and sleet. Trains from the storm center west of here came in covered with ice and from three to eight hours late. No boats were sighted off the harbor today and the wireless has been unable to pick up any steamers on Lake Erie for 24 hours so it was believed that all the warnings of the storm had sent all shipping to a safe anchorage. It was reported from Long Point, Ontario, that the steamer Elphinstone, which ran ashore three weeks ago, was rapidly pounded in to pieces. Reports of another vessel in distress in that vicinity could not be confirmed. The storm continued with unabated fury into the afternoon and the indications were, according to the weather bureau that it would last all night. At noon, snow was drifting from two to five feet deep, especially in

STORM IS ABATING.

(Associated Press Telegram.) Detroit, Mich., Nov. 10.—The disastrous blizzard which swept Michigan and the great lakes all day and last night, abated to some degree this morning, and the weather bureau officials said that a further decrease in wind velocity could be expected before night. Up to this forenoon no very serious vessel accidents had been reported on the lakes, but the property damage on shore had reached many thousands of dollars. Telegraph and telephone companies suffered greatly. Reports from Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Sault Ste Marie, Alpena, Bay City and Port Huron indicated that the gale was the most severe November blow in many years and every port was

STORM OVER THE STATE ABATING

(Associated Press Telegram.) Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—With cold, clearing weather, the storm which had raged over Ohio since early Sunday abated this afternoon but transportation of all kinds was still badly demoralized where it was not completely tied up. In northern Ohio, traffic was practically at a standstill. Telegraph and telephone officials said this afternoon that wire conditions promised speedy improvement, especially toward the east and south-east. Service Director McCarthy got twelve or fifteen snow plows into operation Monday morning and by noon most of the sidewalks in the center of the city were made passable. Some of the residents after sweating and puffing in removing the heavy drifts from the sidewalks in front of the houses were disgusted to see the approach of the snow plows. Second thoughts are best, but that is seldom what influences a woman to change her mind. Life is a bore to all awgurs and some people.
